

COACH JOB POSTING

Are you passionate about wellness and nutrition? Are you looking for an opportunity where you can help others and make a difference in their life? Have you had success on the Ideal Protein Protocol? This could be a perfect, rewarding and life-changing position for you!

You will provide an outstanding patient/client journey experience. The Ideal Protein Coach is a great communicator, listens, cares, and provides education, knowledge, support, and compassion to their patients/ clients. You will adapt your coaching style to each individual while maintaining consistency in the protocol.

You will inspire individuals to believe in themselves and achieve a lifestyle they never thought possible.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Hold weekly one-on-one appointments with patients/clients to support their progression through the four phases of the Protocol;
- Listen to patient/client concerns and provide customized solutions;
- Coordinate and facilitate group events such as educational seminars, open houses, cooking classes and so on, to be able to attract and/or engage new patients/clients to the protocol;
- Respond to inquiries from potential, current, and past patients/clients;
- Develop and implement referral program(s);
- Manage patients/clients' appointments, files, and communications;
- Manage inventory, orders, and financial reports;
- Maintain knowledge and expertise through various developmental tools;
- Build and cultivate networks within the clinic/center and with local healthcare providers;
- Foster brand visibility and create online community via social media;

REQUIREMENTS:

- Successfully experienced the Ideal Protein Weight Loss Protocol or an academic background in health, nutrition or relevant experience in a similar field;
- Strong motivation to help others;
- Places a high priority on patient/client satisfaction;
- Attentive and receptive to what others are saying;
- Excellent communication skills and client-oriented;
- Highly organized and ability to coordinate resources;
- Is proactive and able to work without constant direction.

If you're excited about what you read above, the position of an Ideal Protein Coach might be perfect for you. For more information on the specifics of this posting, please send your resume to Info@ultimatefitnessclub.ca and we will be in touch with you as soon as possible. We appreciate you wanting to help others achieve their lifestyle goals within our community.